

The USB-C port is becoming more common on wireless devices

New requirements to be applied from 28 December 2024

New requirements		Which devices do the new requirements apply to?
Technical requirements <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• The devices must have a USB-C charging port.</li><li>• If the device supports fast charging, it must support at least USB Power Delivery charging technology.</li></ul> Unbundling requirement <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• The buyer must be offered the opportunity to buy the device without a charger.</li></ul> Documentation and labelling requirements <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Labels, for example on the packaging and in connection with price information in distance selling, must indicate whether the device comes with a charging device and what its charging properties are.</li><li>• Labels and information on charging features must also be included in the instructions for use.</li></ul> *Does not apply to devices placed on the EU market before 28 December 2024. If the device model is delivered to the EU market after 28 December, the new requirements will apply.		The new requirements apply to these categories of radio equipment covered by the Radio Equipment Directive, if the device supports wired charging.		 Handheld mobile phones	 Tablets
		 Laptops	 Keyboards and mice	 Earphones, headphones and headsets	 Portable speakers
		 Digital cameras	 Handheld video game consoles	 Portable navigation systems	 E-readers
		The European Commission may extend the scope of the legislation to other radio equipment.
		Read more about the conformity of radio equipment and the new requirements on the Traficom website: https://traficom.fi/en/communications/radio-licences-and-frequencies/conformity-radio-equipment

New labels Charger included Charger not included XX – YY W USB PDXX – YY: minimum and maximum power required for chargingUSB PD (USB Power Delivery): the abbreviation must appear on the label if the radio equipment supports the fast charging technology in question
--	--